Fire And Ice

Synopsis

Sophie Rose, a tough and determined newspaper reporter, is the daughter of Bobby Rose, a suave, charming, and handsome gentleman who also happens to be a notorious big-time thief sought by every law-enforcement agency in the country. When the major Chicago daily where she works insists she write an exposé about her roguish father, Sophie refuses, quits her job, and goes to work at a small newspaper. Far from her onetime high-powered crime beat, she now covers local personalities such as the quirky winner of several area 5K runs whose trademark is goofy red socks. Those red socks "with Sophie's business card neatly tucked inside" are practically all that's found after runner William Harrington's shredded corpse turns up in Prudhoe Bay, Alaska, the victim of a mysteriously dramatic death by polar bear. With an unerring nose for a good story, Sophie heads north to Alaska. What she doesn't realize is that her father's infamous reputation has spread even to the far reaches of Prudhoe Bay. Sophie's assigned a bodyguard "Jack MacAlister, a sexy FBI agent who grudgingly takes the assignment while recovering from an on-duty injury. But they will soon be fighting more than growing passion.

Sophie Rose is a determined woman. She has broken all financial ties with her infamous father and has struck out on her own as a newspaper reporter. She has the complete support of her two best friends and her new boss. Now if the FBI would just stop trying to bug her and realize that she is not the direct pipeline to her infamous father the notorious big-time modern day Robin Hood. The new small local newspaper she works for isn't as fast paced as the big dailies but she works for an amazing, if addicted to root beer, boss who trusts her and looks out for her. Too bad her best friend went and married an FBI agent, but he has become family. Sophie is given an assignment to cover a quirky local personality who runs 5K's and thinks he is front page worthy. She spends one amazingly boring evening with him but a story is a story and meets him to get photos and follow his race the next day. Only he disappears between the time she talks with him until he shows hundreds of miles away in Prudhoe Bay, Alaska the victim of a polar bear attack. They find Sophie's card on the body and call her. Now she is intrigued as to how he just up and disappeared and just might head north. But before she heads out there is an attack on her life and everyone thinks it is coordination with the recent news of her father, again. Now suddenly Sophie is traveling with a bodyguard, one Jack MacAlister, the super hot but very opinionated partner of her best friend's husband. Their attraction is mutual but both try to deny that it exists. Suddenly it looks like Sophie's trouble has followed her to the frozen north. Will they make it out alive and more importantly will they stop fighting their passion, and let nature take its course?
