Toranomaki - OEE And The Structure Of Losses: Measuring To Improve

Synopsis

Toranomaki is a Japanese term which means literally "the scroll of the tiger" and indicates one of the six original scrolls of the text "The art of war" by Sun Tsu. These six rolls were born to gather the secrets of military tactics and were used by the Chinese generals directly on the field, before the battle. In particular the "scroll of the tiger" contained secrets passed on orally from warrior to warrior: the most useful and important ones at the moment of battle. The series "JMAC Toranomaki" has the aim to provide a practical tool, essential and pocket-sized, to be used on the genba as a guide to improvement activities. Methodology and experience at hand, to win everyday challenges!
